

UNDER WHICH FLAG WILL YOU TRAIN

With the Knockers, Who Invest Millions to Uphold and Develop Utah,

OR WITH THE HIERARCHY,
WHO GATHER YOUR TITHES.

Who Take Two Million Dollars
Per Year and Decline to Account for It?

Twenty million dollars is a large sum of money. It is such a vast sum that one can scarcely comprehend it. It equals two-thirds of the assessed valuation of real estate in Utah in 1905, and five millions more than the assessed valuation of personal property in Utah in 1905. It is a tremendous sum. It is greater than the gold output of Canada and Mexico. Almost equals the stock of gold of Belgium. Is larger than the gold stock of Cuba or Denmark or Sweden, and greater than the gold stock of Finland, Greece, Haiti and Mexico combined. As said, it is an immense sum of money. And yet this enormous total is what eight knockers, as they are designated by the church Republicans and church Democrats, have invested in Utah to aid in the upbuilding and development of the State.

This immense sum of money has gone into mines and homes and business property. It has helped artisans and miners and laborers. It has been spent in Utah, in Salt Lake.

And for doing this, for pouring this great sum of money into the State these eight persons are charged with being knockers and of doing all in their power to injure the State and city in which they live. Anywhere else but in Utah these eight persons would be honored for what they did. In Utah they are despised.

Two million dollars is also an immense sum. It means ten dollars to each man, woman and child in the dominant church in Utah, or seven dollars to each man, woman and child in the State. This sum is poured into the coffers of the hierarchy, numbering twenty-six men, of whom Apostle Smoot is one, and includes several law breakers, perjurers and one fugitive from justice. These twenty-six men are the anti-knockers. Of the two million of dollars which annually pour into their coffers no accounting is ever made. It goes to enrich the band, and if any question is ever raised the person so doing is excommunicated.

It is up to you, to say which crowd you care to train with, the eight knockers who have put up twenty millions of dollars to develop and upbuild the State or the band of twenty-six who take two million dollars per year under the guise of religion to enrich themselves and never let you see where a dollar of it goes.

Two additional candidates for county attorney on the church Democratic ticket have entered the arena. They are C. M. Neilson and W. H. Wilkins.

The headquarters of the Church Republican club in the Atlas block were still unoccupied on Tuesday. There was no furniture in the room, nor were there any of the officials about. However, Chairman Cunningham and Secretary Dole of the Church Democratic committee, were in their headquarters across the hall, and the Smootites who called were entertained.

Parley P. Christensen, who, it is rumored, is running for the church Republican Congressional nomination, has an enviable set of initials. When Christensen is introduced to an audience wherein Gentiles prevail, he is always careful to be introduced as "P. P." Christensen. If the audience is largely Mormon he is "Parley Pratt" Christensen, and if the audience is largely Latter-day Saints he is "Parley Peterson" Christensen. Now and then, of course, Mr. Christensen bumps into a crowd largely made up of Greeks, but he is equal to the emergency and is introduced as "P. P. Christensen." Christensen is introduced as "Parley Peterson" Christensen. Now and then, of course, Mr. Christensen bumps into a crowd largely made up of Greeks, but he is equal to the emergency and is introduced as "P. P. Christensen." Christensen is introduced as "Parley Peterson" Christensen.

Notwithstanding the fact that Congressman Howell has been circulating among the politicians about Mount Pleasant endeavoring to repair defects in the Smoot machine, it looks like Parley Pratt Christensen has a cinch on the delegates to the convention from that city. It is said that Howell has given up Mr. Pleasant and has practically conceded that Parley will be the strong man with the delegation.

Not only will Congressman Howell receive no support from the two delegates who were elected by a primary in Richfield Saturday evening to attend the church Republican convention, but any other candidate for proposition of the so-called Smoot machine will receive the same consideration. These two delegates, John G. Jorgensen and Charles D. Heesch, are pronounced anti-machine delegates, and reflect the sentiment of the primary which elected them. There has been a sentiment for some time among the Republicans throughout Sevier county, and particularly in Richfield, against further domination of the party by the religious-political organization known as the Smoot machine. While a good portion of the party in Richfield was not prepared to become so radical as the primary voted, a large number of delegates were elected, and the party was composed principally of the younger element, a majority of whom are Mormons, had caucused upon the matter before going into the primary and voted solidly for a delegation whom it knew would be first and last against the political combination of the Smoot crowd. One surprising feature of the Richfield primary is that the leaders of the party were badly defeated. While Mr. Jorgensen received 28 votes and Mr. Heesch 24, J. H. Erickson, District attorney, and secretary of the Church Republican County committee, received but 15.

Sevier county Democrats are beginning to show signs of life. A call has been issued for a county convention on October 6. There seems to be a general sentiment for H. H. Bell of Glenwood for representative. The Democrats are up against it for a candidate for county attorney. H. N. Hayes, who occupied the position the term previous to the present one, is now a member of

COLORADIAN PLEASED WITH NEVADA CAMPS

Edward Cunday of Denver En Route Home From Sagebrush State.

Edward Cunday of Denver, a mining expert, who has been examining some of the gold camps of Nevada, is registered at the Cullen from Tonopah. He recently closed a deal whereby Huffman Bros. and Walker of Salt Lake took over some fine gold mines in Golden, fifty miles north of Tonopah. Golden, Mr. Cunday thinks, is destined to become one of the great gold camps of Nevada. All the camps around Tonopah, he says, are picking up, and preparations are being made for an active campaign in that section of the State. Goldfield impresses him as the making of the greatest mining camp in the country. The labor troubles there, he thinks, will not amount to much.

PAPERS BEING CORRECTED

State Superintendent Nelson Says Average Is Higher Than Heretofore. The correction of the examination papers of those taking the August examinations by the State Board of Education, was completed Tuesday. State Superintendent Nelson is engaged in making out the percentages, and here all the camps around Tonopah, he says, are picking up, and preparations are being made for an active campaign in that section of the State. Goldfield impresses him as the making of the greatest mining camp in the country. The labor troubles there, he thinks, will not amount to much.

This is considerably better than the result of the June examinations, when 67 per cent of those taking the examinations failed. All of the percentages will not be completed until the last of the week.

DANCE AT LAGOON

First of a Series to Be Given at Resort This Evening.

A dance of interest to college people will be the one at Lagoon this evening. This will be the first of a series to be given each Wednesday evening as long as the warm weather permits. This will be an innovation for Lagoon, as the policy of that resort has been to stay closed after the resort season. But due to desires of those who were out of town during the regular season and were unable to attend the resort at reduced prices, the management has permitted the dance to be held. Excursions will be run down from Layton and Kayville, so that a very enjoyable time is anticipated. The excursion train will leave the Lagoon station at 8 o'clock and will return in time to make connections with the last cars.

The State Board of Land Commissioners, and the duties of that office, with other matters which engross his attention, are such, he declares, that he cannot accept another nomination. E. E. Hoffmann, the only other Democratic candidate for the county, positively refused to have it. J. J. Stewart, the present county attorney, who was elected on the Democratic ticket two years ago, the morning after the election announced that he would not run for re-election. The Democrats may be under the necessity of passing this office up.

The city members of the church City and County Democratic committee met in Democratic headquarters Tuesday evening to discuss the matter of reorganization in the various districts of the city, made necessary by the decrease in the city districts, from fifty-three to forty-one. The problem of reorganization is a difficult one, but a decision was finally reached which, while some districts may not secure as many delegates as they consider themselves entitled to, will be fair when the city is considered as a whole. The situation is as follows: Supposing that some particular ward contained ten districts before the change was made and was entitled to a certain number of delegates—140 for example—and that the ward now comprises only seven districts, the delegates to the districts were defined. It was a matter of simple mathematics to determine the delegates to which the district was entitled, but now, in view of the fact that the districts overlap each other, it is impossible to do this. Therefore, the committee decided to determine the number of delegates each ward is entitled to and then divide them equally between the districts in the ward. The apportionment in the wards will be one delegate for every twenty votes, or major fraction, cast for Judge O. W. Powers for Congress. This will give approximately 505 delegates. On October 1 was fixed the date for the primaries, and at that time the delegates to the State convention, which will meet October 4, and the county convention, which will meet October 10, will be selected. The county convention will be held at the Salt Palace.

The Woman's Democratic club held a meeting at Democratic headquarters, in the Atlas block, at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Roger Sullivan's picture, with his autograph appended, was found among the effects of the church Democratic City and County committee's effects Tuesday. In view of the fight between William J. Bryan and Mr. Sullivan, the latter being the National committee man from Illinois, the find was considered of more than ordinary importance. However, in view of the fact that the Democrats of Utah are with Mr. Bryan, Sullivan's picture will be turned to the wall.

CHURCH RULE IN CRIME

Under church rule in Utah a notorious thief, embezzler and forger escapes through the meshes of the Prosecuting Attorney's office because the offender is a close relative to a prominent church official, and the Prosecuting Attorney is either too ignorant or is too desirous of placating high ecclesiastics to make a decently effective prosecution. County officials engage in a series of peculations, flagrant and long continued, stealing everything from money to Navajo blankets out of the public treasury and the county stores; and not only are they immune from prosecution, but they are upheld and continued as party bosses and religious autocrats in their local communities.

Shameless defilers of decency stalk the land—polygamists and high officials of the Mormon church—boasting of their desire to get young girls for additional wives in their households; and they are not only permitted to wage this work of procreation, but their favor is solicited by politicians who desire office, who know that a polygamist's approbation is worth several votes in primaries and conventions and at the polls.

The guardians of the law hold their entire trust in subjection to the will of the hierarchy of the Mormon church.

It is against this miserable state of affairs that the American party has been knocking with thunderous blows; and this miserable state of affairs will be brought to an end as soon as the American party can gain political control of this county and this commonwealth.

SLATE SMASHERS HOLD CONFERENCE

Decide Upon Committee to Frame Up a Definite Plan of Action.

SMOOT AND HIS METHODS ARE ROUNDLY DENOUNCED

Open Convention, Without Any Slate, Advocated; No Instructed Delegates.

The machine, the coterie, the county courthouse ring, the unknown power and numerous other epithets were applied to the Smootite bunch at the meeting of Republicans in Salt Lake which was held at the Commercial club Tuesday evening. That some steps must be taken to call a halt to Smoot and his methods was the general consensus of opinion expressed, and this object in view it was decided to appoint a committee to frame up a definite plan of action to be presented at the next meeting.

The personnel of the meeting is as follows: Stephen H. Love, George M. Lawrence, Calvin S. Buckwalter, Herbert Cromar, Julian Reilly, J. M. Rasmussen, Daniel Harrington, W. A. Lee, Maj. H. P. Myton, W. L. Dunn, John S. Hayes, Stephen S. Buckwalter, John James, A. B. Elder, R. A. Sermon, John W. Hughes, A. B. Irvine, Bert Walker, Thomas Aubrey, George C. Buckle, Stephen Stanford and Arthur Christensen. Stephen H. Love was elected chairman of the meeting and John James was elected secretary.

Several Speakers Heard. George M. Lawrence was the first speaker. He referred to the meeting as a family gathering, and stated that it was called for the purpose of considering how best to serve Republican interests, and not as a gathering of insurgents.

Stephen Stanford spoke of the necessity at all times of supporting and voting for Republican nominees. He advocated an open convention without any slate, and stated that he did not believe in binding delegates before a convention.

W. A. Lee said that he believed in machine politics, but that he balked on the kind of machine politics that are in force here at the present time. He said that he had attended most every city and county convention since statehood and that he was free to confess that in every convention his chair might as well have been vacant, as there had always been a certain mysterious power, and said Mr. Lee, "Where it cometh, and whither it goeth, I know not." Mr. Lee said further that unless a remedy was found for political office has the indorsement of the right crowd he is slated for defeat. He further expressed surprise that the coterie had not seen the handwriting on the wall. Mr. Lee said he was free to confess that a remedy was hard to suggest, but that he knew that unless something was done to counteract the actions of a certain element in the party that the Republican party is doomed to defeat, and suggested that if a slate was put up at the county convention those opposed to the slate should rally and defeat it.

A. B. Elder then asked what was the source of this unknown power referred to. George M. Lawrence replied that it was from men who "assumed" to speak for the church.

Harrington Against Machine. Daniel Harrington, who has announced himself a candidate for the Congressional nomination, took a slap at Howell and said that a man of large experience, of education, and a man with broad views was needed to fill the position of congressman from Utah. Mr. Harrington stated there was too much machine in Utah and expressed the opinion that with a fair field and no favors shown the Republican party could win.

John Hayes regretted that so much dissatisfaction existed in the ranks of the Republican party and stated unequivocally that Smoot had "busted" the party in Salt Lake county. He stated that he did not believe in mixing the "material and the spiritual," and said "God and the devil never mix," and the day for ecclesiastical leaders has passed.

Col. A. B. Irvine expressed himself as being in hearty sympathy with any movement that would separate church and state. "The coterie is to blame for the present conditions," said Col. Irvine, and "its methods will not work in the future as in the past, as the boys in the Mormon church are getting their eyes open."

George M. Lawrence and Stephen H. Love both spoke in corroboration of Col. Irvine's remarks. Mr. Love stated that he had been in politics in Utah since statehood, and that he had always tried to be a consistent Republican.

Calvin S. Buckwalter moved to appoint a committee of five to draw up a plan of action and to hold the next meeting in Judge Diehl's courtroom next Monday night.

The chairman appointed Calvin S. Buckwalter, W. A. Lee, A. B. Irvine, George M. Lawrence and Stephen Stanford to act on the committee.

Mister, can you tell me where Dr. C. W. Higgins's office is? Why, yes. Didn't you know he had moved? He is at No. 28 West Third South.

MORE COOL WEATHER PROMISED FOR ZION

Possibility of Frosts in Exposed Places Northwest, and Also in Utah.

As predicted in the forecast published Tuesday morning by The Tribune, the weather became cooler in and around this city Tuesday, as well as Monday night. The high which developed in the West, and spread so rapidly, did not pass to the eastward, as it was possible for it to do, but moved slightly eastward, far enough to catch Salt Lake, giving us a minimum of 51 degrees temperature. Throughout the Northwest and West the temperature remained at the freezing point, and, in some places, below. Winnemucca and Calgary had a temperature of 34 degrees, while a number of points in the Northwest had temperatures ranging from 36 to 40 degrees. That portion of the country also had light frosts, and more were predicted for Tuesday night. It was possible for this vicinity to have frost, though the chances were, and are, more or less remote, owing to the fact that the lake prevents such sudden changes with unusually low temperature.

Two highs have formed in the East along the Atlantic coast, one in the Southeast and one in the Northeast. Should these highs develop and spread to the westward, they would hold the high which prevails over this city station, to a degree, thereby giving a continuation of the cool weather which we have experienced for the last forty-eight hours. While this is not improbable, yet it would be more than is looked for by the local weather forecasters. It is presumed, considering the path and general direction which the Western highs of magnitude usually pursue, that the present cool wave will pass on to the eastward in the course of today or tomorrow, and that we will have another short period of comparatively warm weather. On the other hand, it might be that another high pressure would form immediately behind the present one, in the West, drive it to the eastward, and give Salt Lake another period of cool weather for forty-eight or fifty-six hours.

A low in the extreme Southwest, while not of a great deal of energy, has been slowly developing and increasing its area, until it has reached almost to Modena. The usual course of these lows, however, has always been to the eastward, along the Southern coast, so that there is only the most remote possibility of this one giving Salt Lake any precipitation. In view of the conditions which prevail, it will be safe to say that today will be cooler, with possibility of light frosts in exposed places, and a continuation of the cool period over night, anyway, if not Thursday morning.

VISITS SALT LAKE AFTER FORTY YEARS

Asabel Duff of Pike County, Illinois, Witnesses Wonderful Transformation Here.

THEN A WILDERNESS; NOW A METROPOLIS

Tells Interesting Story of the Building of the Big Tabernacle.

After an absence of nearly forty years Asabel Duff, now a prosperous farmer of Pike county, the famous Illinois, paid a visit to Salt Lake City Tuesday. It was in the spring of 1864 that Mr. Duff first entered the fertile Salt Lake valley and took up his camp on irrigation square, and what a wonderful transformation he witnessed yesterday—then only a civilized spot in the wilderness, now the metropolis of the great intermountain region.

Mr. Duff was only a boy then and he spent the summer here. In the fall of 1864 he went to Alder's Gulch, Montana, now Virginia City, and as most of the pioneers of that region did, he engaged in mining. The winter was severe, so on the approach of cold weather he returned to Salt Lake, remaining here until 1866, "sliding down" in the Salt Lake mountains," is the way he expressed it. "In the spring of that year I drove team for Heber C. Kimball, the younger, and Riley Judd, to Helena, Mont.," said Mr. Duff. "I worked in the mine there that summer; then went to Blackfoot, Mont., and in '67 to Salmon City, Idaho, and then to Leesburg, Idaho. In 1869 I again visited Salt Lake on my way home to Illinois, where I have been ever since. I am once again en route to the old homestead in Pike county, having just returned from the State of Washington, where I have two sons, one at Bellingham and the other at Tacoma."

Adverting to the winter of '65 spent here in the mountains, Mr. Duff said: "A friend of mine from Pike county was killed by a snowslide at the head of Parley's canyon that winter. I helped to dig him out, and today I hunted the records and visited the place where he was buried in the old Potter's Field," and here the old gentleman's eyes moistened and his voice faltered with emotion as he said "and I tell you I felt it bad today."

Knocks Tabernacle Story. Mr. Duff also visited the big Tabernacle. He was here when Brigham Young was directing its construction. "I went to the Tabernacle," he said, "and saw the workmen at work. I saw the iron nails—there were wire nails. That work is made of lattice work, about six inches apart, and I have a farm in Illinois to bet that the lattice work is nailed with iron nails, not wooden pegs. It is a pity to destroy one's idols or gods, but evidently the custodian at the big Tabernacle should revise his lecture and cut out the wooden peg stunt."

There Was No Persecution.

"They speak of persecution," continued Mr. Duff. "The Mormons were not persecuted; but although it was well known that there was valuable mineral land in the vicinity of Parley's Park, now Park City, no man dare go there to prospect, for if he did he took his life in his hand. They did not want the mineral lands developed; they wished to be alone without any Gentile population."

"When I came here first there was not a saloon in the place. But in the fall of '65 one was opened at the old Salt Lake House, and I was told that it drew $1000 a day and that Brigham Young owned the house. There were few cases of drunkenness, but when a man was arrested for intoxication it was said that the officers ascertained how much money he had and the next morning he was fined that amount."

Mr. Duff will visit Park City today, Parley's Park, he calls it, and will go East tonight.

PROMOTED HIMSELF INTO CITY PRISON

Peculiar Business Methods Which Idaho Men Have to Explain.

Charles W. Gage, until recently employed by the Pacific Development company of Idaho, was arrested by Detectives Shannon and Wilson Tuesday and is now held at the city prison awaiting investigation as to the value or worthlessness of certain checks and drafts that he has been recently handling there and in neighboring cities.

On Monday Gage offered the National Bank of the Republic a draft on the Idaho State bank which didn't look just right, and this, together with some other facts, brought about an investigation which resulted in the arrest as stated.

But a few days ago the management of the Knutsford hotel, where Gage had been staying, notified him that he would have to seek quarters elsewhere, as he was in arrears for his bill and his conduct in certain other respects was not satisfactory.

The detectives say that Gage is a "promoter on a small scale," meaning by that that he is willing to advance any sum, however small or unpromising for whatever there may be in it for him. When asked to say something for himself the prisoner declined apologetically, declaring that he "hadn't a word to say."

HUNT LIKES GOLDFIELD

Ex-Governor of Idaho in Town After Visit to Rich Camp.

Ex-Gov. Frank Hunt of Idaho, accompanied by his wife and daughter, was in the city for a few hours between trains Monday night. Ex-Gov. Hunt and Mr. Dewey were on their return from Goldfield, Nev., where they had secured leases on some gold mines. With Goldfield ex-Gov. Hunt was greatly infatuated.

It is, he thinks, the making of one of the greatest mining camps in the West.

Ex-Gov. Hunt left Idaho about a month ago, and had no opinion to express respecting the political situation, as he was not posted on present conditions.

The main purpose of his short visit Monday night was to confer with P. J. Donohue, mining engineer, on some mining business, after which he and Mr. Dewey were entertained by friends at the Alta club until train time.

HURT IN RUNAWAY

Farmer Thrown From Wagon and Has Skull Crushed.

Robert Naylor, a farmer living near the State Penitentiary, met with a serious accident on Monday and is now at the L. D. S. hospital in a precarious condition.

Naylor was driving home from his day's work when his team became frightened and started to run down the Twelfth South street hill. As the team reached a car track the wagon lost its hold and Naylor was thrown out, landing on his head. He lay in a half-conscious condition until taken to his home and later to the hospital. Here Dr. Van Cott found that the skull had been fractured, and on Tuesday afternoon it was found necessary to perform an operation and remove several small pieces of bone. Early this morning he was reported resting in reasonable comfort.

HAD BOGUS MONEY

Stranger Arrested, Put Afterward Permitted to Go.

Patrolman Stains on Tuesday arrested Frank Revoy, a stranger, and charged him with attempting to pass counterfeit money. He attempted to pass a bogus dollar bill, which was a Second South street bartender, and when the coin was declined paid the price of the drink he had taken in real money and went his way. Stains heard of the circumstance and the arrest followed. At the station the "quaker" gold piece was found on the prisoner, but as the evidence was not considered sufficient to secure his conviction he was allowed to go.
